LOSS OF FLANDERS MAY END WAR

THE RED CROSS APPEAL

By JEAN ADAMS
Buckholts

In Europe death dealing war planes ride the skies. The carnage of their creation sweeps many lands. Armored tanks and motorized artillery mow across whole countries destroying as in a blight all standing in their way.

Cattle, crops, people, even little children stand in fear, then in despair, only to fall into destruction. Some will live. They must be aided to endure, to struggle on.

We in America live in comparative health and happiness, in relative safety and security. Those in Europe whom we must help are being stripped of all.

The war today is not just between those who wear a uniform. It strikes down civilians, the aged, defenseless women and little children. They are being stripped of even the dignity given them by their creator.

To them we must send our assistance. The American Red Cross, the official relief agency of this country and its people is prepared to give that aid. Its vast army of volunteers, its greater army of members, its skilled personnel, its safeguards, its equipment all are ready, but funds are needed. They are needed in great amounts.

They may be needed in even greater amounts than we now anticipate.

Let us all share the burden and give generously. Wholeheartedly answering the pitiful appeals for aid.

Let it not be said that there is a blackout of mercy in Milam county.

At a meeting of the Milam County Red Cross executive committee Friday, workers were appointed to supervise the collecting of funds for War Relief in Europe.

Twelve hundred and forty dollars is the amount assigned by National Red Cross Headquarters as the quota for Milam County. Rev. J. P. Love, Mrs. Ben Winfield, Thomas V. Adams and Rev. H. E. Crone will head committees to raise the amount.

Urvin Rundle, Red Cross field representative, present for the meeting requested that the money be raised quickly and stated the urgent need for haste in giving aid.

* * *

The American Red Cross is appealing to all citizens of the United States to contribute a War Relief Fund for the thousands of homeless and wounded refugees in Europe. Milam county has been assigned a quota of $1,250 to aid the suffering of these distressed and persecuted people. To those fleeing for their lives, or caught in all the horror and cruelty of the war zone, the Red Cross is giving aid as best it can and where it can.

Representatives of the American Red Cross are on duty in Europe 24 hours a day.

Make the Red Cross your agent in giving help.

Address any contributions to John W. Haygood, chairman, Cameron, or Thomas V. Adams, treasurer, Buckholts.

Please make checks payable to the American Red Cross War Relief Fund.

BRITISH FINALLY TAKE NARVIK FROM GERMANS

Amid scenes of carnage and frightful slaughter the battle of Flanders continued today unabated.

On the whole the battle gave the Germans advantage because they were desperately attempting to close in on the pocket in which some 700,000 French and British soldiers are caught.

The Allies were figthing a retreating battle and there was some indication that a serious effort will be made by the forces to reach the channel ports for evacuation to England and other parts of France.

Veterans Foreign Wars Indorse U. S. Defense Program

Veterans of Foreign Wars through Ben Milam Post No. 1010 have indorsed the defense program of the United States as outlined by President Roosevelt in his recent address to the congress.

Emmet W. Streetman, adjutant of the Post has been authorized to write members of Congress and the Senate from Texas to urge their support of the defense program.

A resolution, said Mr. Streetman, was passed not only called for support of the defense program but asked the Congress to speedily stamp out un-American activities in the United States.

GENERAL GAMELIN SUICIDE?

A Swiss dispatch said that General Maurice Gamelin who was relieved of his command when the Germans broke through the Maginot line, has committed suicide, on advices from the French army command. Gamelin was held responsible for loss of the war and was given choice of suicide or a firing squad, according to the Rome newspaper, The Italian People.

St. Louis, Mo., May 28, 1940.
J. W. Haygood, Chairman
Milam County County Chapter

"When American Red Cross asked Minimum War Relief Funds ten million dollars no one could foresee that in two short weeks greatest tragedy in all history would be unfolded, impossible to describe, pitiful plight, millions refugees in France sick, wounded, hungry and homeless; they cry out to us for help. Will need much more than ten million dollars. Therefore quotas originally assigned should be regained only as minimum immediate objective. Chapters should then go on and where possible double their quotas. In fact only limitation should be the maximum generosity of American people. We should complete this campaign within shortest possible time."

Work Is Started On Faubian Bridge

Work on the Faubion Bridge was begun today according to announcement by Grady Stidham, county commissioner for Precinct 2.

Mr. Stidham said that the construction work is in charge of Charles Skinner for the Austin Bridge Co.

The court here purchased a bridge over the Brazos River on the old Bryan to Caldwell road.

Roadways leading to the new Bridge over Little River which is to replace the Faubian bridge which collapsed in 1939, will be cleared with WPA labor said Mr. Stidham. Construction of the bridge is regarded as a step forward in progress for that section of the county and Mr. Stidham and the court are being congratulated by the people.

RED CROSS DOLLARS FOR CIVILIAN RELIEF

The American Red Cross is named by Congress as the official agency to handle War Relief Funds.

War Relief is a Red Cross duty. American Red Cross spent about $1,800,000 on War Relief, from its general funds, before this campaign for War Relief was started.

Things bought by the Red Cross are: medicine, surgical instruments, food, shelter, materials, ambulances and nurses' and doctors' salaries. In addition to these, they shipped one-half a million garments, made by Chapter people, and two and one-half million surgical dressings.

Over 40 other Red Cross Societies throughout the world, have been assisting in War Relief. The Red Cross has aided Finns, Poles, Czecks, Lithuanians, Sweeds, Norwegians, Jews, French, Dutch, Hollanders and British.

Funds now being raised, are for use among allied nations only. The American Red Cross has had, and will continue to have American representatives in Europe, supervising and handling the distribution of relief, sent by the American Red Cross.

This assures the American people that their money will be spent entirely on the civilian population. Observers say that there is more suffering among civilians now, than at any time during the last war. Right now, there are over 5,000,000 refugees needing Red Cross care.

The Red Cross campaign has been endorsed by all leading organizations and individulas, including President Roosevelt.

BATTLE MOST SAVAGE IN HUMAN HISTORY

Nazis Germany had all but won the war against England and France today when it was officially announced that the Allies had abandoned the Flanders battle and were fleeing as best they could to the Channel Ports where British transports were waiting but losing heavily to German bombs.

The retreat from Flanders, said by experts to be the most harrowing ordeal ever experienced by soldiers, was regarded as certain to leave more than half the Allied soldiers dead on the field or captured by the Germans.

The bulk of the Allied army was reported 20 miles from Dunqurque and being subjected to a devastating fire from German planes.

The Germans said they had sunk a large number of transports in the channel waiting to evacuate the soldiers.

Military experts and observers said they did not believe any of the army could be evacuated and if so would have great difficulty in crossing the channel.

Germany was massing its great air force to destroy the fleeing Allied soldiers.

The Germans said they had sunk a number of warships in the channel.

Contrasting the German claims the Allies said that a great number of soldiers had been rescued and taken to England.

Soldiers who survived the Flanders battle said it "was a hell on earth."

Both French and British said that the army is not fleeing in disorder but fighting heroicly and in order.

A large detachment of French troops said to be the finest in the French army were left to die or surrender.

The British and French air forces shot down 73 German planes since dawn Wednesday in the most terrific air battle in history.

German High Command said that the Allied armies have been destroyed and that the attack is but a dress rehearsal for what is to come to England soon.

The retreat of the British and French, hopelessly outnumbered three to one, low on ammunition and without food, closes the first chapter of the war with a smashing German victory.

The soldiers of France and England were fighting every inch of the way, dealing out death to the enemy and

NO MAJOR CHANGES IN BIG WAR AREA

With no important major changes in the critical battle area in France and Belgium the days news told of apalling sacrifices of men by the Germans in a serices of violent attacks all along the front.

Initial local successes were reported by the Germans.

The most violent fighting of the week end occured in the sector at Perrone and Bapaume where the French have cut down the bottle neck to 12 miles and through which the Germans were desperately crowding men and munitions for the coming seige of England from the Channel Ports of France.

The Germans began another attempt to break through the Maginot line north of Sedan at Montmedy. Here according to a French broadcast at 9:30 Monday the Germans were driven back to their fortifications after three unsuccessful attacks and with terrific losses.

An unconfirmed though regular broadcast said that the Germans lost 25,000 soldiers killed in this battle which occured Saturday.

In the vicinity of Bapaume, the French official communcation said, German soldiers by the thousands are lying dead on the field and in some cases three deep.

In the Montmedy battle, the story is told of German commanders arranging by white flag truce for cessation of French artillery fire until the battle field could be cleared of the dead. It was a shambles. The French Communication said "it was not a battle, but a massacre."

In the Cambrai section Hitler is said to have begun today a series of the most violent attacks since the war began.

These attacks are being carried out with such violence that anything may happen. The French were hard pressed and it was a serious question whether the French could hold out and at the same time complete the offensive necessary to reach the pocket where more than a million Allied soldiers are bottled up in Northern Belgium.

Hitler has ordered, according to dispatches, attacks regardless of cost.

German soldiers were being withdrawn from the Swiss border and the Siegfried Line to be thrown into the offensive to break through with force to the channel ports.

In Paris is was officially admitted that Boulogne , important French coast town had finally fallen to the Germans.

The British said that Calais had not as yet fallen, but its capture by the Germans was expected momentarily.

In the east the powerful German army was closing in on the pocket where the Allies are trapped. At Courtrai in France the Germans are said to have opened a violent offensive to close in the ring which for days they have said will complete destruction of these Allied armies.

British air forces now employing the living tactics so effectively used by the Germans are said to be inflicting the most severe losses of the entire war on German troops and communication lines.

Adolf Hitler refered to the English channel as a "mere brook" and predicted that Britain would be overwhelmed by the coming invasion.

British fleet units have steamed in to the Channel and opend violent fire on the German held port cities.

Meanwhile the Nazis promised that England is next in line and are feeling jubilant over their victories thus far in the war.

The Allied communication from Paris said that the Germans are paying too heavily for the advances they are making and their man power, already tired and worn from 16 days of continuous fighting and eating only tinned foods, cannot stand the strain of the exertion demanded by the High Command.

With the battle still undecided there was belief the fate of the thrust to the channel would not be decided for the next few days.

Germany was reported as desperately determined to keep up the advance as a lull would take away all advanatge, the Allies would begin their counter offensive.

HARMONY INSTEAD OF HATRED

IS THE FERGUSONS' PROMISE

Unless the Governor possesses sufficient wisdom and diplomacy to command respect of the legislature, it is useless to hope that any constructive program can be carried out.

No purpose is served and the people are not benefitted when vicious attacks are made on members of that body in order that an alibi may be established.

Repeated charges against the political integrity of our lawmakers destroys all hope of future harmony and prevents any possibility of securing much needed legislation.

After all, the final responsibility rests with those elected to make our laws and any one who refuses to recognize, or is ignorant of, this fundamental fact is totally unfit for the office of Governor.

The Fergusons past record for harmony is the surest guarantee of their future relations with the legislature.

The Fergusons will speak at Fair Park, Dallas, Saturday, May 25th. Hear them over Radio Station KRLD, beginning at 8:15 p. m.

So shocking and so furious had become the natreds engendered that it was said authoritatively that Germans already captured are being shot. Germany has indicated retaliation.

While the Governments of France and England said they would fight on, observers in some quarters failed to see any hope for the Allied cause. With Germany in command of the entire channel coast from Holland to Boulogne there seems little chance that England could be of any further effect in the war.

France has been left alone and Italy coming in.

The British would neither affirm nor deny that Mussolini had transmited to the Allied capitals his conditions for staying out. One source said that Spain was coming in to assist Hitler and Mussolini by demanding Gibraltar.

FERGUSONS ASK: "IS THE LEGISLATURE TO BLAME?"

Our present governor has shed tears as big as a biscuit over inmates of our eleemosynary institutions and has shouted through the microphone about his betrayal by the legislature which refused to back his efforts to help these poor unfortunates.

In the first issue of his private newspaper, dated April 8th, in announcing for re-election the governor states: "I found our eleemosynary institutions wholly inadequate to take care of the insane, the blind and the feeble-minded and many of these unfortunate people housed in firetraps and languishing in jail." In the April 29th issue of his paper a screaming headline on the front page informs us that 800 insane are now confined in jails for lack of room in State hospitals.

It is not a pleasure to be forced to call a four-flusher's hand or to expose stark hypocrisy in public office, but taxpayers are entitled to facts.

The governor has repeatedly boasted of vetoing five million dollars in the appropriation bill but has remained strangely silent about the individual items. Of the five million dollars which he cut out, $1,821,325 was money which the legislature had appropriated for the support of eleemosynary institutions. Included in this amount was $1,524,674 which was to be distributed between the ten State hospitals for the insane which would have gone a long way toward remedying the condition which is now rending the Governor's heart.

Other items vetoed by the governor included: $138,000 for two of our State tubercular hospitals; $70,131 for two of our State orphans' homes; $50,520 for the Texas School for the Blind; $38,000 for the two institutions for wayward boys and girls.

Let's see if the governor can hang this on the legislature.

The Fergusons have never vetoed one dollar appropriated for our eleemosynary instutions in the past and will not do so in future.

TYSON-GAMMEL

A quiet home wedding was solemnized Friday evening, May 24th at 8 o'clock when Miss Helen Jane Tyson became the bride of Harry P. N. Gammel of Austin. Rev. John W. Mills, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Cameron, reading the beautiful ring ceremony. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Tyson of Cameron. She was attractively attired in a late model of blue marquisette gown; with this she wore a small blue flowered hat with shoulder length veil, carried a colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds. The bride graduated from Yoe High School at Cameron; attended college at San Marcos and after completing a business course at Austin, she did special work in the 46th State Legislature as secretary to the Hon. Henry G. Lehman, Flotorial Representative from this district, resigning this place to accept a responsible position at Austin with the State Health Department and resigned for her marriage. The mother of the bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hefley pioneer citizens of Milam county; prominent farmers and business residents of Cameron. Her father is City Secretary of Cameron, active in civic and social circles of this section of the state. For the past 25 years he has continuously served in the city government and a former president of Cameron Lions Club. The bridegroom is the only child of the late Harry P. N. The groom is a graduate of Austin High School; attended Texas University and has been associated with his late father in business in Austin which was established over fifty years ago as the "Gammel Stores." The ceremony was read in the living-room of the Tyson home, that was beautifully decorted throughout with pink gladioli. The dining room also featured the chosen flowers. The table was laid with green damask cloth where the wedding cake in ring fashion, rested on one end of the table and the punch bowl at the other end, amid beautiful pink rosebud and Queen Ann lace. Miss Henriem Hefley cut the wedding cake and Mrs. John A. Smith and Mrs. George Mayo Newton presided at the punch bowl. Other members of the wedding party were Mrs. John Baldwin of Corpus Christi and Miss Katherine Hefley of Cameron. The bride chose as her going away godn white jersey cloth with small white turban with matching accessories and wore a corsage of gradinias. The couple left immediately after the reception on a wedding trip that took them to Galveston and other interesting points in Texas, and will be at home in Austin. Out of town relatives of the couple were: Mrs. Lillian B. Sneed, Mrs. Vada Lewis, Miss Henriem Hefley and Sam Tyson, a brother of the bride, student at Southwestern University and all of Georgetown. DISASTER FOR ALLIES FORECAST BY BERLIN

King Leopold of Belgium has been deprived of his throne and was denounced as a traitor in Paris and by the British press for his surrender of an army of some 200,000 Belgian soldiers figthing with the British and French.

The King has conferred with Adolf Hitler over the future of his country and has been assigned a chateau with his status unchanged according to the German view.

In Paris the Belgian cabinet said that the capitulation of Leopold has no legal effect and the Belgian government will fight on under a civilian cabinet.

It was estimated that the troops to surrender under the King number about 200,000.

Winston Churchill in London refrained from an attack on the King. asking Britons to not judge the young monarch too harshly.

In Rome it was said that the surrender of the King and his army removed the last obstacle to Italy's entry into the war, that war on France and England would now be sanctioned by King Victor Emauel. The King of the Belgians is a brother in law of the Crown Prince of Italy.

Both the French and British government announce that the surrender of the Belgians would not alter the course of the Allies. They will fight on to the bitter end.

In Paris, Premier Paul Reynaud, announced the capitulation of the Belgians after a French cabinet session that lasted far into the night.

On the military Front the Germans were marching on.

The entire French and Belgian coats will now be open to advance of the Germans.

The Allied troops in the pocket created by the Germans now number some 400,000 men. They were being subjected to a merciless attack by the Nazis who were hurling all their power and equipment into the besieged army. Wedges were being driven into the ranks of the men and the entire northern flank of the French army is threatened.

In the bottle neck around Cambria the Germans had succeeded in negoting the gains of the French and there seemed little hope that the Allies could overcome the losses. Narrowed to 12 miles by a violent French counter attack the neck is now almost 30 miles wide and through it the conquest of Hitler sweeps on.

There was no hopes for the Allied armies cut off in Flanders. While the Allied leaders would not admit the battle had been lost it was regarded by the Germans as settled and the Nazis were preparing for what they term a quick knock out blow to the British.

The Allies would not be out of the war if the pocketed Allied troops are destroyed or captured. There was no effort to minimize the disaster facing England and France and if the battle of Flanders is lost the blow will be hard to overcome.

In Washington the capitulation of the Belgians was received with consternation.

German victory was more near realization than at any time during the present drive into France and the low countries.

It was regarded as impossible for the Allied forces now facing annihilation to escape through the channel ports.

There was little news of actual fighting beyond the claim that the Germans were renewing their attempt to destroy the armies in the Belgian sector.

Nothing short of a mircale could save the Allied cause in Flanders. There was no indication that the French were preparing for a major offensive to offset the German victories that have brought the war to the door of England.

Hitler's conquest include the following countries: Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Denmark, Nerway, Holland and now Belgium.

GERMAN LOSSES SAID FIFTH OF WAR POWER

Increasing German pressue on the channel ports Friday had painted another dark picture for the Allied cause.

A London announcement early today said that Boulogne only a short distance from the English Channel had been taken by the Germans.

Early Friday when Adolf Hitler threw his legions into another fierce drive, German mechanized units had captured another coast town and were marching on Calais. This report came from Berlin.

The Allied armies reported by Germans to be bottled up in the now famous pocket executed by swift manuevers of German forces, were said to be fighting desperately and have made considerable headway for an excape.

The fate of these armies were uncertain. A German newscast said on Friday a powerful offensive was launched by Hitler to effect destruction before aid could reach the belleaguered men.

General Maxime Weygand, Allied Commander in chief was believed to be completing final preparations for Allied attack. Fierce fighting was going on at Cambrai and Amiens.

The Germans were said to have broken through a 25 mile front for new thrusts at the English Channel.

Described as the greatest battle in history losses are said to be large on each side.

An Allied communication said that Germany has lost one-fifth of her total war equipment since the beginning of the battle, two weeks ago.

British airforces are said to be inflicting heavy losses on the Germans.

The French have fought their way to the outskirts of Cambrai and a late dispatch from Paris said General Weygand was preparing to break through to Cambrai to relieve pressure on the Channel Ports.

H. V. Kaltenborn, noted news analyist, said that German air-superiority would soon vanish and that England and France are manufacturing war planes as fast as the Germans.

With the German artillery in range of the British Isles, the government in London continued feverish preparations to resist an invasion. Large troop concentrations are being made and it was said that the British fleet is in the Channel.

Several days will be required to determine the outcome of the battle and the report reaching the Daily Herald shortly before noon today said that Hitler had thrown every resource of the German war machine into a final gigantic thrust indicating that the dark days are yet to come.

France has not thrown into the battle anything like her total military resources. The press in Berlin warned the German people that the German army has not yet been tested against full Allied strength.

In London it was announced that the British were attempting a new approach to a better understanding with Russia.

Some anxiety was felt over the present attitude of Turkey. From Italy the repot came that Turkey would soon desert England and France.

Italy will enter the war within the next few hours, it was believed, first attacking in Africa to capture the Suez Canal and in collabration with Spain seek to take Gibraltar from the British.

Sir Samuel Hoar left London early Friday for an undisclosed mission to the government at Madrid.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Harris of Waco are spending this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Holland. Both families made a trip to Huntsville Wednesday evening and remained over for the broadcast from the Texas State Prison held each Wednesday night.

Hugh Camel of Balinger transacted business in Cameron Thursday.

BRITISH BOMB OIL RESERVOIRS IN BREMEN

German's invasion of France had run afoul of stiffened Allied resistance and with the French army moving into battle on an increasing scale of intensity under the new commander, General Maxime Weygand, the situation appeared somewhat improved, although it was admitted that from a geographical standpoint there was no change from Saturday.

The moral tone of the French and British forces is said to have improved many times over.

The announcement by the French government of the appointment of General Weygand as commander-in-chief had its repercussions all over the world. The British say they have as much confidence in Weygand as do the French.

The German sailent into France was believed today to have been turned Westward in the direction of the Channel Ports. Whether the Germans were making for Amiens and from that pivotal point swing down the valley to Paris, of course was a matter of speculation.

The French attacking on a large scale for the first time, brought 70 ton tanks carrying cannons on the historic field at St. Quinten, famous battle ground of World War No 1. The French are said also to be exerting heavy pressure on the lengthened communication lines of the German army near the Belgian border.

The British air ministry said that communication lines of the Germans were subjected to continual bombings from the air with resulting heavy losses.

The French near St. Quinten launched a counter attack with big tanks and are said to have broken through the German assault, turned upon two columns of German troops being brought in by motor transports and wiped them out.

German thrusts are said to be slowing down in proportion to the hazard of obtaining fuel and gasoline supplies for their mechanized equipment.

Widely scattered points behind the German lines and also at Hamburg and Bremen, British bombing planes, in a night attack, are said to have destroyed vast quantities of gasoline when they blew up German storage reservoirs.

General Weygand who displaces General Gamelin is a World War hero. As chief of staff for General Foch, he is given credit for many of the brilliant military moves that won the war for the Allies.

Weygand flew from the near East to Paris late Sunday and within one hour had taken over command of the allied armies and swiftly changed the complexion of allied efforts in the war.

Gamelin was regarded as too conservative for the type of battle being waged by the Germans and General Waygand is said to be employing the famous slogan of General Foch, "Attack! Attack, Attack!"

The sudden change in allied tactics follows closely the address of Winston Churchill in London Sunday afternoon in which he said only vigorous attack could be tolerated in the present situation.

On the whole it appeared that Germany had made no appreciable gains since Saturday.

Benito Mussolini is said to have asked President Roosevelt for an American guarantee of Italian territorial claims as a price of Italy's neutrality in the war.

J. M. McLean Gets Vice Presidency in High Pythian Circle

E. Fred Meek of Tyler was elected Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of Texas by the Grand Lodge in Dallas Wednesday. He succeeds Frank E. Smith of Abilene.

Beaumont was selected as the 1941 convention city.

Monday morning at the opening of the Keeper of Records and Seal and Master of Finance Association of Texas, J. M. McLean, Keeper of Records and Seal and Master of Finance was elected vice president of the Association, as per the report of the Grand Lodge at this meeting. There are 148 Lodges in the State with 10,923 members.

As of May 1st, the report shows that Cameron is in 6th, place in the number of members, and in 4th, place in the net gain in members for the 4 months of 1940.

Judge Jeff T. Kemp, M. G. Cox and J. M. McLean returned Wednesday from Dallas where they attended the Grand Lodge meeting.

INTER-CITY MEET HELD

On Wednesday night, May 22, the Odd Fellow and Rebekah Lodges simultaneously initiated new members to their organizations at the Odd Fellows and the Knights of Pythias Halls.

Immediately following the initiation exercises both lodges met jointly for an inter-city meet with representatives of lodges from Austin, Taylor, Moody and Georgetown.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

William and Joe Stocklas, Jr., made a business trip to Rosebud Friday.

TRAPPED LIGIONS ONLY TWELVE MILES AWAY

Crack Divisions of the French army meeting the Germans for the first time in open infantry battle were said at noon today to have pinched off exactly 23 miles of the bottleneck between Cambrai and Arass.

For the first time since 1914 French bayonets were flashing on the Somme. That means war.

A desperate battle has been raging in this sector for more than 48 hours. When the battle opened the French army in the South was 35 miles away from the more than 750,000 Allied soldiers bottled up along the Belgian Border.

A broadcast from Paris Saturday said that only 12 miles remained to effect a juncture and to sever the entire line of German communications with the units that have pushed to the English Channel.

The Allies claim superiority in man-power and artillery and the French have been using both in a desperate effort to break through and puncture the pocket to rescue the army caught in the German trap when Hitler sent his mechanized forces through to Abbeyville.

A communication from Paris said that General Maxime Weygand had been successful in counter-thrusts in the region of Cambrai and also the French are reported to have been successful in a major attack at Amiens.

From the German capital extravagant claims were made but there was no substantiation beyond the claim from the German High Command that a major attack had been launched on 3 fronts.

The Germans report Calais only 20 miles from the English Port of Dover had been captured. The French denied this.

Ghent, in Belgiam was reported by the Germans to have been captured by their forces. The Germans also claim that they were attacking the trapped Allied army which they say is composed of the first, seventh and ninth French and British armies and the Belgians.

Enormous quantities of war materials including tanks and other equipment were captured by the French. Many thousands of prisoners were also reported taken by the French in a new thrust which has all but cut through the German lines.

Late yesterday the Germans attacked the English coast.

Although there was nothing in the news to indicate a more serious situation for the Allies, Winston Churchill said the situation is more grave than at any time.

The Germans have not as yet begun an attack on the British Isles but such a venture will not be undertaken by Adolf Hitler until he has disposed of the French and is able to get through the required number of army units and air forces to complete the job.

Benito Mussolini who has been on the verge of entering the war on the side of Germany ever since last September was reported today as having reached a decision to enter, but hesitated. Drastic decrees both for mobolization of fighting men, manual and intellectual resources have been issued.

Censorship made it almost impossible today to get correct information. It is becoming increasingly hard to penetrate the confusion no doubt resulting from the maze of battles now raging.

Air-superiority of Germany is said to be severely challenged by the Allies, especially the British who have stepped up their production schedules and are said to outnumber Germany in trained pilots.
